

Rotha's Story

Rotha is a young lady from Kompong Chnang who is living in Hannah's House in Phnom Penh so she can study Accounting at university. Her parents are farmers. She and her sister are the only Christians in her family. Her parents allow this but they did not want to know about their faith.

Earlier this year, Rotha's dad had a motorbike accident and broke his leg. He spent many months in a hospital hours away from his home. They had to sell their cows to pay for the cost of his operation and treatment.

Last month, we were able to go and visit Rotha's parents at their home in K. Chnang. It was a wonderful time of fellowship, showing the love of Jesus in a very real way. They were so happy to receive our visit. Rotha's mum and sister cooked a lovely meal for us. Libby was able to encourage Rotha's dad with his walking and advise him about eating good food to strengthen his body. He told us every time he ate good food it made him sick! We all felt this was part of the enemy's attack on this man to destroy him. We prayed for the family and of course for healing. The presence of God was really there in joy and faith for healing and their salvation.

When Rotha came back to P.P. she had a wonderful testimony. After we left her dad said he could feel a demon moving around in his body! She and her sister laid hands on him and anointed him with oil and prayed. God set her dad set free. They called for the pastor, Vanna, to come and visit. He led them in the salvation prayer and then they chose to remove all the idols in their home.

How wonderful is our God? Now Rotha's parents are both Christian and trusting Jesus for their lives.
